InterMoor's services include the rental, storage, sale and management of mooring equipment and consultancy in all types of mooring design, whether temporary or permanent.

We are working with clients to develop a full range of equipment suitable for today's offshore environment. This new range ensures that all requirements of anchor, chain and wire handling offshore are fulfilled and fit for their intended purpose.

- High specification of mooring equipment
- Quayside facilities enabling rapid response
- Complete range of spooling services and rig move packages
- Installation and recovery planning
- Personalised inspection and reporting programme

In the harsh offshore environment, longer term mooring components are essential to ensure safety. As a result of InterMoor's experience, the H-Link was created and designed to extend the life of long term mooring connectors. Large mooring systems require life spans of up to 30 years in a permanent position and therefore a connector had to be designed to allow for excessive corrosion.
